

There is no deal yet, but state republicans are crafting a plan that would increase funding for public schools and extend a school voucher program statewide. As talks continue, Janet Rossiter with the La Crosse School District has already stated ill feelings towards vouchers. Though her district could become a voucher school.

\(Click for Audio\)

Voucher programs allow students to attend religious schools and other private institutions at taxpayer expense.