

2nd Day Of Storms Take Their Toll On Area

Thursday, 30 May 2013 21:14

Two days in a row of storms in the area...and Thursday's started taking a toll on La Crosse. Manhole covers popping out of the road on Losy near Cameron and 9th streets...trees down near 11th and West Avenue and lots of rain and hail. All late afternoon Thursday.

The National Weather Service says wind gusts were clocked as high as 48mph on French Island...3/4 inch hail was reported in Barre Mills and 1.4 in hail in West Salem. There was also scattered reports of pea sized hail covering the ground in some areas.

As for rain fall totals, almost 2.5 inches fell in less than two hours in West Salem and 1.6 inches had fallen in that span in Onalaska.
