

So who was the guy found dead in a Tomah home last Sunday? Good question. If you know, Tomah Police would sure like your help as they have not been able to i.d. the 21 year old yet.

Police were called to a home of an unresponsive person last weekend. Police say he had no weapons, drugs or anything around that would lead to the man's death. Police are working with the Wisconsin State Crime Lab to try to identify the man.

Police says there were no signs of trauma on the man and are now waiting for toxicology results to come back from the State Crime Lab.
