

The State of Wisconsin has a problem knowing who really needs to be on state aid. Words from Senator Kathleen Vinehout days after the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel published a report about who is bogusly getting benefits.

\(Click for Audio\)

The reaction came in response to a Journal Sentinel investigation published Sunday that exposed how regulators fail to verify actual income when applicants for aid report that they make no money or are self employed.