

Businesses, law enforcement agencies, hospitals and volunteer organizations. All getting together to talk mental health and homeless issues for Veteran's. It took place in Tomah last week and Jim Olson says they are two huge issues to tackle. And local governments are seeking some help on the issues.

\(Click for Audio\)

The goal is to join forces and work as a team to help veterans conquer mental health challenges and homelessness.