

Funeral services are being scheduled for former Viterbo president and chancellor Bill Medland...

The university says Medland died this weekend. He had fought cancer for a long time, dating back to his early years as Viterbo president in the 1990's. Medland was hired as president of Viterbo in 1991, and held the post for a record 15 years, after which he was appointed chancellor. The Viterbo campus experienced physical changes and much construction during the years Medland was in charge, as enrollment and the school's endowment grew rapidly.
