

Mother Reunited With Infant, Ticketed for Pot

You can understand why a young mother would be frantic to get to her infant behind a locked door. That's why police were called by a La Crosse woman this week-end. She was locked out of the apartment where her four month old was sleeping. She probably didn't consider or wasn't too worried about the marijuana pipe she'd left out on a table. The cop found the pipe after picked the lock of the apartment door. The woman was ticketed for possession.
