

La Crosse county continues strong growth in housing sales. Latest numbers from the Wisconsin Realtors Association finds the state as a whole saw a home sales growth of about 17 percent in July of this year from July of last year. La Crosse is a little behind that, at an 11 percent growth for July from July of last year. But the county has seen a 23 percent increase in home sales for the first seven month of this year compared to 2012.