Wednesday, 28 August 2013 08:48

A bit of a struggle to rescue a woman stuck in the bluffs in La Crosse. After two hours, La Crosse police say rescuers have finally collected the woman from the bluffs after an apparent fall. Apparently they had to cut down a couple of trees to get to her. Police also warn against hiking off trail in the bluffs, suggesting the woman may have been on private property when she fell. The woman is injured but no word yet on how seriously.
