

Planning on traveling for the upcoming holiday's? Dave Friedman with Hobbit

Travel in La Crosse says the economy is a bit better now and now is the best time to consider purchasing your travel packages.

\(Click for Audio\)

Friedman says the rules change for the holidays, depending on what day of the week the big days fall. Thanksgiving, of course, is always on a Thursday, so you're better off looking to fly on the Monday or Tuesday before, or even on Thanksgiving itself, to find less costly seats. Traditionally the busiest and priciest day of the year to fly is that Sunday after the food fest.