

Sometimes a little help from your friends can go a long ways. That's about the only thing that Steve Mills can count on at this point. The La Crosse Municipal Boat Harbor operator is up against it with the La Crosse city council on the verge of taking away Mills' lease for the enterprise. But retired La Crosse retired priest Bernard McGarty does his part

\(Click for Audio\)

The full city council votes next week on rescinding Mills' lease. Mills allegedly has violated the lease in several different ways.