

Drugs and Booze Behind Burger King Crash

Monday, 14 October 2013 10:49

A lot of huffing and puffing didn't blow down the Burger King. But a woman who was admittedly huffing cans of air duster did manage to dent the fast food spot near La Crosse city hall. Cops say a 24 year old was drunk and high after huffing, blacked out, hopped a curb and ran into the Burger King drive-thru at around eight on Sunday night. No estimate on damage yet. The woman faces a list of charges including one for stealing her boyfriend's car. She'll be in court after she gets out of hospital.
