

By this time Micheal Richards has heard all the questions regarding Obamacare. Richards heads external affairs at Gundersen in La Crosse and he's been a part of more presentations than he can count regarding federal health care changes. Couple of key questions always come up. Especially the medicare question

\(Click for Audio\)

But, predictably, Richards also hears questions about the online federal health care exchange. Questions only answerable, Richards says, on the exchange. Which has well-documented problems. Richards joins yet another panel discussion today on Obamacare at Viterbo.