

The Arcadia School District held referendums held last April, and in November of 2011.....both defeated by 2 to1 margins. Is today 3 strikes your out or third times a charm for them.

The latest request, $14 million, is substantially smaller than the previous two referendums. The estimated cost of a middle school addition to the high school would be $12 million and another $2.1 million for improvements to the existing elementary building.

Polls throughout the school district are open until 8:00 p.m.
