A fight over a drunk grandma leads to a couple of arrests on La Crosse's southside this weekend. Cops say the 45 year-old grandmother of a two month old was breathing her hot, boozy breath into the face of the infant when the child's mother got angry. Led to a pushing, shoving, punching throwdown between mom and grandma. Cops arrested both. Grandma admitted to getting hammered at a bar earlier with her boyfriend. Cops say she blew a .29 at the time of the arrest.
