

Roads Turned Into Ice Rinks

Monday, 09 December 2013 05:47

In some places of the state, it's Snow better to drive this morning then it was late yesterday. Slick stretches of I-90 are even being reported this morning.

Three pickups trucks slid across the I around 5 this morning, hitting each other before coming to a stop facing all directions. No injuries were reported. Across the way on west bound I-90, 2 more cars were in the ditch. And you could see car tire tracks heading into the ditch from Sparta to La Crosse where several others had already been towed away.
