

Could discussions start next year on ending Wisconsin's income tax? 7 other states have none so why not the Badger State? Thoughts that came from Governor Scott Walker earlier this week. He told a TV station that there are many states that do very well, better than most states in the country, that have no income taxes. Democrat Steve Doyle's take on the possibility?

\(Click for Audio\)

Doyle says the issue, if it continues, could be a big one heading into the 2014 governor's election.