

You have the right to vote in Wisconsin, but a new proposed constitutional amendment would guarantee exercising that right. A fine distinction but one that groups like United Wisconsin says is important with current plans by some lawmakers to limit the ability to register to vote. Or limit voting hours

\(Click for Audio\)

Lisa Subeck with United Wisconsin. The so-called Right to Vote act's chief sponsor is La Crosse state senator Jennifer Shilling. Among the senators in Madison today who will be voting on various election rules, some of which establish voting limits.