

La Crosse County is getting healthier. That's according to the latest

University of Wisconsin Population Health Institute 2014 County Health Rankings.

\(Click for Audio\)

Catherine Kolkmeier is the Director of the La Crosse Medical Health Science Consortium. She says the county also went up in the categories of clinical care, now 2nd in the state and Social and economic factors, now 8th in the state. She says this indicates that the county's health is headed in the right direction.