

Disappointment for a Madison-based group after a supreme court decision on prayer before government meetings. Freedom From Religion's Annie Laurie Gaylor criticizes yesterday's 5-4 decision determining prayer before meetings is constitutional

\(Click for Audio\)

Gaylor says it's coercive to have prayer before meetings like the La Crosse city council does. She says those who don't choose to take part are viewed as second-class citizens.