

New School Hit by Vandals

Monday, 02 June 2014 09:44

Thousands of dollars in vandalism reported at the construction site of La Crosse's new elementary school. Police say, within the last few days, vandals got into the northside school site, found a bucket of red paint, and scrawled the words, "Teach Safe Sex" on an interior brick wall. They're going to try to use a pressure washer to get the paint off. If that doesn't work, the bricks will have to be replaced at a cost of about five thousand dollars. No suspects yet.
