

They sold out in a minute yesterday.....so now people will scour the internet for Packers/Bears game tickets. Craigslist and Ebay are two websites that people go to for those hard to find tickets.....and that makes it tougher for you if you get scammed.

Michelle Rainen with the State Bureau of Consumer Protection says you should never pay with cash or debit cards.....check the tickets for the date and an actual seat in the stadium.....and contact the BetterBusiness Bureau to see if any complaints have been filed against the business you are buying tickets from.
