

Discussions raging from bystander intervention to First Amendment rights on a university campus will be examined during Diversity Dialogues at UW-LaCrosse next Wednesday.

The event encourages the university community to showcase some of the outstanding work being done on campus with respect to diversity.

Events include bystander intervention, protecting freedom of speech while fighting racism, intolerant and discrimination, disability-related issues and working with veterans on campus.

The event is sponsored by the subdivision of Campus Climate & Diversity.