

Baby Falls From Window on Southside

Tuesday, 31 May 2011 15:28 -

Nearly the worst case scenario for a babysitter in La Crosse this week-end. Police say first responders got the call on Saturday about a one year-old girl on the southside who had fallen from a second story window onto the concrete below. Apparently the girl had managed to unlatch the screen in the window and just tumbled out. when the babysitter couldn't find the child, she went outside and found a neighbor holding the bruised and bleeding baby. Battered a little from the fall, but apparently okay. Police have declined to charge the babysitter.
