

Stopping your car to watch animals can be dangerous...

That message comes from local investigators, after a Black River Falls woman was killed in a crash yesterday near Bangor. Vicky Drews died after slamming into the back of a car that was parked on Highway 162. The driver of that car said she wanted to watch a bear from alongside the road. She will not be prosecuted by the D-A, but got a ticket for improperly stopping on a highway.