

U.S.News & World Report's 2012 America's Best Colleges list includes UW-Lacrosse at number 2 for the second year in a row. But U.S.News also listed UW-L among A-Plus Schools for B Students.

UW-Lacrosse Chancellor Joe Gow says the ranking continues UW-L's trend of being ranked second or third among the Midwest's public universities for the past 11 years. Truman State University in Missouri once again earned the top spot. .

Among all private and public Midwestern universities, UW-L ranked number 16, tying with Kettering University in Michigan and the University of Northern Iowa.
