

Cameron Street Bridge Jumper Update

Thursday, 22 December 2011 12:07 -

Seems as though no one jumped off the Cameron Street Bridge last night though police say clues at the scene opened up a search of the waters below. Officer Avery Schott.

She says just after 7:30 this morning, the owner of the car that was left at the bridge, was found safe and is undergoing a medical evaluation. Search crews were out until 9:30 Wednesday night and were going to resume that search at 9 this morning.