

Governor Scott walker used his weekly radio address to talk about the state's 400 thousand veterans and ways they will be honored this year. He calls it....The Year of The Veteran.

State agencies will hold at least 15 veteran specific job fairs and four employer education symposiums to point out the benefits of hiring veterans and a new website has been created to centralize resource support for vets and their families. It's year of the veteran dot com.