

Campbell to Vote Tonight on Buying Church

Monday, 05 March 2012 22:44 -

The possibility of the town of Campbell buying an old church on French Island has sparked some protest. We've heard numerous complaints about unnecessary spending regarding the potential purchase. But town board supervisor Pat Post says she's made a well-below-appraisal on the former Baptist church and there's not much work to do to turn it into a new library space for the town

The town board holds a special six o'clock meeting tonight so that people in Campbell can vote on the purchase.