

One Heroin Suspect Kept In Jail, Another Released

Thursday, 22 March 2012 12:06 -

A drug suspect in the La Crosse County jail will not get a break on her bail...

Rhiannon Schulze is charged with delivering heroin, and still needs 75-hundred dollars to be released from jail. Judge Dale Pasell turned down a request to lower the bond...partly because Schulze is accused of injuring a female jailer since her arrest last week. The D-A's office says that Schulze also had a past diversion agreement which was revoked. Schulze and co-defendant Karen Carter were arrested after reportedly bringing heroin to a police informant. Carter was allowed to be released from jail, because she has cooperated with the court.