

No Compromise on Fees Could Mean End to Oktoberfest Parades

Thursday, 22 March 2012 21:20 -

A compromise on new fees for Oktoberfest parades? Nothing doing, apparently. City hall in La Crosse hasn't budged after meeting with representatives yesterday from the Oktoberfest board on the possibility of altering 18 thousand dollars in fees that the city wants to offset police overtime. The board had put planning for its three parades on hold in response to the new fees, but the city isn't backing down. We're told the Oktoberfest board will meet as a whole on Monday to decide what they might do next.
