

New Garbage Rules Lacking Universal Support

Wednesday, 04 April 2012 10:54 -

There's clearly some landlords frustrated with the city of La Crosse. New proposed garbage rules have some crying foul, even after the new regulations were re-worked to be more palatable to landlords. Not enough, says David Olson. He recommends the city look to its own Oktoberfest mess first

The full city council votes on the rules next month. Among other things, the regulations would allow the city to go after the worst mess-makers with fines up to a thousand dollars.