

Great news for Wisconsin property taxpayers. Or is it? Governor Walker's office says property taxes dropped this year for the first time in 12 years. But that's property taxes on a median-priced home. Probably sounds better than it is, says Todd Berry from Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance

Berry believes, when the final numbers are tallied, the total property taxes paid in Wisconsin this year will still be slightly higher than the year before.