They have ben caught.

The two men who escaped from a Jackson County correctional facility were arrested in Florida this morning. James Newman and James Misleveck were arrested at around 3:30 in Hollywood, Florida, just outside the Miami area. The pair were spotted in a parking ramp of the Seminole Hard Rock Hotel and Casino in the same black Chrysler Concorde they stole last week from Tomah. When police tried to stop their car, the men got out and ran away. James Misleveck tried to climb a fence, but officers caught him before he could go over. James Newman climbed a tree and was eventually surrounded by police. He tried to climb down and run again, but was taken down by a police dog. Misleveck is being held in the Broward County Jail. Newman was treated at a hospital for injuries related to his run-in with the police dog, and released to police. We'll have more from the Seminole Police Department after they wrap up a press conference.
