

District Looks Good With Hirings

Wednesday, 01 August 2012 08:50 -

The La Crosse School District has taken a pretty good hit the past 2 years with an influx of teachers either retiring or resigning from the district. But Human Resources Director, Steve Salerno, says they are filling the holes with bright, young staff and should be good to go come the fall.

Salerno says there are one or two more holes to fill before school starts but feels confident a staff of 100% will be on board by that time.