

Girl Attacked by Pit Bull

Tuesday, 04 September 2012 14:41 -

A little girl in La Crosse will start school with some extra challenges today. Police say the eight year-old northsider has been patched up after getting bitten repeatedly by the neighbor's pit bull. The girl went to the neighbor's front door late last week and the pit bull rushed her. Apparently got a piece of her knee and thigh. The dog is licensed and is current on rabies shots but typical protocol for a bite of this kind is to have the dog quarantined.