

Vicki Markussen, executive director for the 7 Rivers Alliance, studied the latest economic impact released by Western Technical College and she says the bottom line is easy to see. There are jobs out there.....just not the work force to fill them. That's because WTC needs more students to graduate for those lines of work.

\(Click for Audio\)

The college proposes to expand its offerings to increase the number of associate degree holders in Western's district, if a referendum is passed next month.