

Kind Reacts To Walker's Decision

Friday, 16 November 2012 12:07 -

Kind says Governor Walker put partisan politics before people today. Instead of allowing Wisconsin to run its own health insurance exchange, make key health care decisions for Wisconsinites, and better meet the needs of families and businesses here at home, Governor Walker punted that responsibility to Washington.

Kind says he's disappointed in Governor Walker's decision and hope that we can find a way to rise above the politics, work together, and provide access to quality, affordable coverage for the people of Wisconsin.