

Onalaska Man In Coma After Florida Boating Accident

Tuesday, 11 May 2010 11:29 -

An Onalaska business owner has massive brain injuries after a weekend boat crash in Florida.

Jason Baldner is in a coma, according to Bill Weber of La Crosse, who's speaking for the Baldner family. Jason was a passenger on a boat that crashed into a seawall at Cape Coral, Florida. Former Onalaska resident Jason Williams was driving the boat, and he's also in the hospital along with another passenger. Weber says Jason Baldner's parents and other relatives are in Florida to be with him. Jason Baldner is head of '4-1-1 Technologies' in the La Crosse area, and he's former president of Kitchen Solvers.