

Medinger Bows Out of Mayoral Campaign

A brief campaign, to be sure. Former La Crosse mayor John Medinger has dropped out of the race for mayor just days after he got in.

Medinger tells Mitch Reynolds that, although he recognizes he was the favorite in the race to replace Matt Harter as La Crosse mayor, his heart just wasn't in it. Medinger says, as his job as a local staffer for retiring senator Herb Kohl draws to a close, he's now looking at Help Wanted ads in the newspaper.
