

An Ok Attendance At Sparta Bully Meeting

Thursday, 14 March 2013 09:09 -

It's been a few weeks since a packed crowd watched as people spoke over and over about bullying in Sparta. A follow up meeting of a Sparta school board committee this week shed some light on what can be done to make sure assaults like the one Misty Morales' son went through....don't happen again. She says she's glad the district is stepping up.

Some ideas kicked around included more camera's in school busses, adult monitors in busses and more reviewing of bus video on a regular basis. The regular school board meeting is later this month and talks will continue.
