

Kisken Fired By City

Thursday, 18 April 2013 11:55 -

No comments yet from either side in the dispute between La Crosse city hall and Pete Kisken. Kisken's employment as the city's municipal prosecutor has been terminated. City council members were informed of the firing in the email as of earlier this week. One council member also told us that they were reminded not to comment on the case as the council may have to act as the final judge in the matter should Kisken challenge his discipline. The city apparently just recently informed Kisken why he and another high-level employee were escorted from city hall last May. Kisken had been earning full pay and benefits until his termination.
