

Wisconsin's Tammy Baldwin was among a small number of Senate Democrats who voted for gun background checks legislation that failed Wednesday. She told us that some of those that voted no, like Wisconsin's Ron Johnson, had their head in the clouds.

\(Click for Audio\)

By larger margins, senators also said no to banning assault weapons and high capacity magazines. Johnson voted against both those proposals. Baldwin voted yes to both.