

La Crosse sheriff's department is in the crosshairs of the ACLU. La Crosse is the lead county for the West Central MEG Drug Task Force. It's that task force that the ACLU wants more information on. The organization has filed an open records request with the department to find out more about its so-called militarization and involvement with the armed forces, specifically the national guard. The records request looks for info on the Task Force techniques and weaponry. The ACLU has not responded to calls from us for more information on the records request.
