

Some lessons to be learned after a boy was saved by a motel clerk performing CPR last week in La Crosse. Happened at the Brookstone Inn last Friday night. But it could happen to you anytime, says Tri-State paramedic Mike Petersen. That's why you should be prepared

\(Click for Audio\)

Because need can arise anywhere, says Petersen

\(Click for Audio\)

Petersen says CPR performed by a bystander is one of the things that are most important for survival rates among cardiac arrest victims.