

A moratorium on rental conversions might not even be legal. La Crosse mayor Tim Kabat tells us the city's legal department is still working on a proposed moratorium on converting single family homes to rentals. Although he supports the idea of limiting rental growth

\(Click for Audio\)

Kabat says, long term, the city will look at new ways to enforce rules regarding upkeep of current rentals.