

The regents of the University of Wisconsin System have approved a proposal that could eventually lead to pay raises for all UW System employees. Governor Scott Walker, in La Crosse last week, was asked about the pay raises. He said money is there for them.

\(Click for Audio\)

The proposal involves requests the UW System would make of the Office of State Employment Relations, and a recommendation for the legislative committee that oversees employment relations.