

The United States said on Thursday it will review aid to Egypt in all forms after President Barack Obama canceled joint military exercises with Egypt next month in response to a bloody clampdown by Egyptian security forces. Wisconsin Senator, Ron Johnson, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said U.S. influence in that region is being shown to be real week right now.

\(Click for Audio\)

The death toll from political violence that occurred on Wednesday in Egypt has climbed to 421.