

Quite a few cities across Wisconsin have gotten away from live public auctions and have turned to auction websites. Like Onalaska. Dan Wick with Parks and Recreation says they have quite a bit of luck selling items on the internet. Current items on the Wisconsin Surplus website?

\(Click for Audio\)

He says they have sold city cars and trucks.....supplies...and even lighting. All of the money the city collects stays in the city.