So far, so good for a Prairie du Chien athlete at the Winter Olympics...

Men's skeleton contestant Matt Antoine is in fourth place now after today's two heats in Sochi. Antoine's two runs on the skeleton sled course added up to about 1 minute and 54 seconds. That's nearly two seconds behind the leader from Russia. Another American, John Daly, is in third place...26-hundredths of a second ahead of Antoine. The last two heats for the men will be tomorrow, around 9 a-m Wisconsin time.
